FIASCO

This is a nice neighborhood with a nice mix of families and a nice, powerful homeowners association. People who aren't afraid to tell you that the shade of blue you're painting your house isn't allowed. Judgemental rich people. But lately things have been unsettled around Poppleton Terrace—property values are falling, crime is rising, long-time residents are grumbling, and now new people are moving in. People who are not like us. At all.
