The House of the Third Wilhelm is the name adopted by the Holswig-Schliestein family to describe their Imperial Dynasty. Their coat of arms is a common sight in the city.

Altdorf is an important military centre, with numerous fortified barracks and knightly chapterhouses. The Imperial School of Engineers dominates the East End of the city.

Imperial authority means little in the rookeries and wharf fronts of Altdorf's Dockland. Here two vast and belligerent gangs, the Hooks and the Fish, vie for dominance.
